(2) Subject to subsection (4), a person has the same right to bring proceedings against that person's wife or husband for any offence, whether under this Act or otherwise, as if they were not married, and a person bringing any such proceedings is competent to give evidence for the prosecution at every stage of the proceedings.

(3) Where a person is charged in proceedings not brought by that person's wife or husband with having committed any offence with reference to that person's wife or husband or to property belonging to the wife or husband, the wife or husband is competent to give evidence at every stage of the proceedings, whether for the defence or for the prosecution, and whether the accused is charged solely or jointly with any other person except that

- (a) the wife or husband, unless compellable at common law, is not compellable either to give evidence or, in giving evidence, to disclose any communication made to her or him during the marriage by the accused; and
- (b) her or his failure to give evidence shall not be made the subject of any comment by the prosecution.

(4) Proceedings may not be instituted against a person for any offence of stealing or doing unlawful damage to property which at the time of the offence belongs to that person's wife or husband, or for any attempt, incitement or conspiracy to commit such an offence, unless the proceedings are instituted by or with the consent of the Director of Public Prosecutions; but

- (a) this subsection does not apply to proceedings against a person for an offence
 - (i) if that person is charged with committing the offence jointly with the wife or husband, or
 - (ii) if by virtue of any judicial decree or order, wherever made, that person and the wife or husband are at the time of the offence under no obligation to cohabit; and
- (b) this subsection does not prevent the arrest, or the issue of a warrant for the arrest, of a person for an offence, or the remand in custody or on bail of a person charged with an offence, where the arrest, if without a warrant, is made, or the warrant of arrest issues on an information laid, by a person other than the wife or husband.
